GREENVILLE, S. C.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1871.

Railroad from Greenville to Asheville.
Awake! Awake!
Or be forever fallen.

Not quite so low as these words once meant to imply, which, according to Miron, were addressed by their leader to the fallen angels in Pandemonium, but in a great sense, and a most important, they do apply as a warning now to Greenville in the matter of building a railroad to Asheville, a thing that must be done or Greenville cannot rise higher than a certain level, which, although high above what she has been, is not half so high as this road over the mountain will place her. All around and about us new railroads are projected and talked about, but a road from Greenville over to Asheville, which would connect our place with Western North Carolina, East Tennessee, Kentucky and the Northwest generally, and also throw boundless business upon the Greenville and Columbia Railroad, has been long agitated and its importance confessed. Build that road and Greenville would soon quadruple her population, and march on to the dimensions of a great inland city, prospering and to prosper. The advantages as to location and other things, places Greenville ahead of any town on the Air Line track as a place to receive benefits from railroad connections. We are in a direct line from Asheville to Charleston, Augusta and Savannah, by way of Ninety Six and to Columbia also, and on the Air-Line that connects with all the world.

We are discussing nothing new and that is not understood by our people; let them meet and discuss this matter. The road can be built by calling the attention of capitalists to it. It will be a paying road, and make the Greenville and Columbia, the South Carolina, and other railroads in this State, also paying roads. There are men of sagacity who have means that will see the importance of such a railroad. Let their attention be called to it, and let us do what is possible ourselves, and the Greenville and Asheville Railroad will be built. The question of wide or narrow gauge need not now be discussed.

Among other advantages, Greenville will become, with the construction of this road, the place for distributing grain and provisions to every part of the State. More will come over the mountains by this road than will pass over the Blue Ridge, should that be completed.

A meeting of the citizens of Greenville, to devise some means to make progress in securing the construction of a railroad from Greenville to Asheville, should be called at an early day. Its practicability at an easy mountain grade by the Gap Creek route, has been long ago ascertained by actual survey, during the discussion of the Charleston, Louisville and Cincinnati scheme; and Mr. SOLOMON JONES in forms us that he went along the route with the engineers, and the route was located on a grade not exceeding sixty feet to the mile. We invite a discussion of this very important matter in the columns of the Enterprise.

Cotton in Greenville.

The cotton crop in this County will probably not exceed one-half last year's product, but the planters have already commenced bringing some to market. On Monday, there were six bales, new crop good quality, sold at 18¢. It will thus be seen, that the Greenville market opens well, and planters in all adjacent sections may expect to make as good sales in Greenville as any where else.

The increase in cotton culture in Greenville is remarkable; in 1840, the entire crop was only 300 bales for the whole District; last year it was about fifteen times as much. Greenville is proved to be a cotton as well as a grain and grass growing section. Its agricultural advantages, therefore, are not exceeded by any other section, and equalled by few. All that is required, is persevering industry and improved culture. We are glad to think that both are increasing.

The Weather.

On Thursday evening, rain commenced falling, which continued, we believe, the greater part of the night, a portion of the time coming down in torrents, making the ground very wet; on Friday it was hazy; on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the sun shone, becoming quite warm; during the night of the latter, rain commenced again, which continued to the present writing, (Tuesday). The earth is becoming very wet, and a week or ten days of clear weather would have a telling effect upon the late crops.

The Laurensville Herald of the 15th says that the first bale of new cotton, sold in that market, was bought by Mr. John Kyle on Saturday, 9th inst., at 16¢ cents. On Wednesday another bale was bought by Mr. W. M. RICHMOND, at 17 cents.

The Horry News, Ex-Gov. Perry's "Reminiscences," and the Enterprise.

It gives us pleasure to read the annexed extract in the Horry News, published at Conwayboro, eulogistic of Ex-Gov. PERRY's "Reminiscences," now being published in our journal; also the word spoken of the Enterprise, thanking the News, and assuring the editor we reciprocate his kindness:

"Hon. B. F. Perry has prepared a most interesting history of Greenville, and incidents of events connected with the early settlement of that section of South Carolina, which is to be published in the Greenville Enterprise."

"Ex-Gov. Perry has a fancy for treasuring up the reminiscence history of South Carolina; his biographical sketches of the past great men of the State, are not only interesting, but are worthy to be treasured up in our school libraries, as a model of chaste and easy flow or language; an incentive to the aspiring youth to imitate the example of those, who, by their own efforts, mentally and physically, raised themselves to a position, that South Carolina has been, and ever will be proud of their memory."

"We hope this with other historic writings of the Ex-Gov. will be placed in book form, but we advise our readers to subscribe for the Greenville Enterprise, an excellent paper, in which this historic sketch of the up country will be published."

Atlanta does a Large Wholesale Business—Why Should Not Greenville?

Dr. THOMPSON, of Atlanta, a native of this County and a gentleman of great respectability, well known to many of the older citizens, whilst on a visit to this place the other day, informed us that a large wholesale business is done by the merchants of Atlanta, and that the prices of nearly all descriptions of dry goods are as low as in New York. Atlanta, although an inland city, with out water transportation, one hundred and seventy miles above the city of Augusta, is far outstripping the latter in business and population. Why may not Greenville rival Augusta as a market and in population and in other things also; when the Air-Line Railroad is completed. We see no reason to the contrary, especially when we reflect that we must have a railroad soon to Asheville, connecting us directly with the great northwest, as well as with all the other points of the compass.

Remarkable Escape.

An accident occurred in the lower part of this County, a few weeks since 20 miles below the Court House, which was so remarkable in its results, that we think a statement of the affair is worthy of record:

As Mrs. THOS. C. HARRISON, accompanied by her son-in-law Mr. ROBERT M. PEDEN, together with the latter's wife, her child which was only two months old and adopted son seven or eight years old, were proceeding to the house of another son-in-law, situated only a mile or so distant, the mule which was attached to the buggy, a very large and strong animal, before getting scarcely out of sight of the house, suddenly took fright, and after running a hundred yards or so, commenced kicking, and was not long in demolishing the front part of the vehicle, throwing all of its occupants out upon the ground. Whilst the mule was running, Mr. PEDEN jumped out and endeavored to stop it, but without avail. Seeing his child, with the others, lying on the ground, his solicitude was first directed to it, and ran and picked it up. It had ceased to breathe, whereupon the others, who had suffered but slight injuries, proceeded as rapidly as possible back to the house, where, in ten minutes afterwards, the infant began to laugh and show other very strong indications of life, completely restored. In being thrown from the buggy, the lines had been entangled around the baby's arm, and had the mule moved after the party reached the ground, would no doubt have mangled its form.

We think it remarkable that there was not some sacrifice of life attending the catastrophe, on account of the extreme delicacy of the child's age, and also from the fact that Mrs. HARRISON is in her sixty-third year.

The Mansion House.

We are requested by Capt. J. L. SOUTHERN, proprietor of the Mansion House, to state that he has yet an abundance of room for all desiring board, and that none need go away Good and comfortable accommodations will be guaranteed.

The Columbia Union speaks thus of Capt. S. and his fine establishment:

"We take pleasure in inviting the attention of the public to the card of Mr. Southern. The Mansion House is all he says of it, and more too. It is situated in the most healthy locality in the State; the surrounding scenery is beautiful; the table is always supplied with everything the country and the markets can afford, and no attention is wanting on the part of the proprietor and his assistants to make the stay of their guests pleasant. For invalids, as well as pleasure seekers, few spots in the United States offer more advantages than the quiet and beautiful city of Greenville."

New Firm—First Class Clothing and Fancy Goods Store.

Messrs. S. SWANWALK and A. ISAACS have formed a copartnership and are now opening the store rooms under the Mansion House, formerly occupied by Drs. M. A. HUNTER & Co., as a drug store; where they are putting upon the shelves a large stock of Clothing and Fancy Goods, which will embrace Coats, Overcoats, Shawls, Pants, Vests, Hats, Gloves, Gents' Underwear, &c., &c., and in Fancy Goods: Perfumery, Tooth Brushes, Pocketbooks, Pen Knives, Walking Canes, Pipes, Tobacco, Cigars, Cigar Holders, &c., &c. The stock will be a large and varied one, consisting entirely of articles of superior value.

These gentlemen are filling a want of our place long felt and needed, and it rejoices us to publish the fact that they appreciate the growing tastes of the community.

The Christian Weekly.

The perils of a hunter's life in the Alps are graphically described and finely illustrated in the sketch entitled, "Between Life and Death," in the Illustrated Christian Weekly for this week. "What the Yankees are doing in the East," tells us of the Robert College at Constantinople, founded by C. R. Robert of New York, ten years ago. With it are given views of the College, and portraits of the founder and of Rev. Dr. Hamlin, the president. A charming illustrated poem, entitled "The Kitten's Sermon," will specially interest the children. Two fine engravings are given with the article on the "Temple at Jerusalem," showing the Temple restored and "Christ casting out the traders." The publishers desire agents, with whom they will make liberal arrangements. Address them at 150 Nassau street, New York.

National Commercial Convention.

We learn from the Columbia Union that the Governor has appointed the following persons as delegates to represent the State in this Convention, which meets at Baltimore, on Monday, September 25, 1871:

Delegates from the State at large—H. G. Worthington, Esq., General M. C. Butler.

First Congressional District—General A. B. C. Cash.

Second Congressional District—William S. Hastie, Esq.

Third Congressional District—Hon. Frank Arntm.

Fourth Congressional District—Hon. A. S. Wallace.

A Good Paper.

The Hearth and Home, published at No. 245, New York, by ORANGE JUDD & Co., is an interesting paper; so much so, that it is read by every member of our family old enough to read. It is issued weekly, therefore we have a literary treat fifty-two times a year. The two last numbers are especially entertaining, if one can be more so than another. Subscription $3 per annum. Subscribe, and we know, judging from the past, that you will be delighted.

Ballou's Magazine.

This sprightly, lively and instructive monthly magazine for October is issued in good time for its many readers to admire. Always punctual to time, it is eagerly looked for by all; its attractive illustrations and good reading matter being suited for old as well as young people.

A Good Time.

Now is a good time to subscribe for the Enterprise, those who do so, will get the advantage of Ex-Gov. PERRY's "Reminiscences," which are universally admired. All new annual subscribers are furnished, without extra charge, with the back numbers of the "Reminiscences." $2 per annum in advance.

Personal.

We have had a call from Mr. HUGH WILSON, of the Asheville Press and Banner, and have had a long and very pleasant chat with him. We are glad our brethren of the press can now and then take a little respite, as the followers of no other calling are harder worked.

Personal.

Maj. T. B. FERGUSON is now absent in New York, purchasing goods.

That superior and much experienced Jeweler, Mr. B. WEHRLE, is laying in a larger stock than ever.

Mr. W. C. HUMPHREYS, of the firm of HUMPHREYS & GOODWIN, after an absence of several weeks in Gotham, has returned, arriving Friday evening.

Mr. A. A. FOSTER, of the firm of FOSTER & HUNTER, has also gone for Goods.

Change of Firm.

Mr. W. L. MAULDIN has purchased the interest of Dr. JAMES HARRISON, recently deceased, in the Drug and Book Store of HARRISON & MARSHALL, opposite the Mansion House. Their advertisement appears in another column.

Atlanta Papers.

We are indebted to Dr. O. B. INYNS for late copies of the Atlanta (Ga.) Sun, which is edited by Hon. A. H. STEPHENS.

Auction Postponed.

The auction sale of the property of Rev. B. MANLY, Jr., advertised last week to be sold on 19th inst., was deferred on account of the bad state of the weather, till Tuesday next, 26th inst., when all persons desiring bargains in household and kitchen furniture should attend. Some live stock will also be offered at same time. See advertisement.

To Cotton Buyers.

Those who are engaged in buying Cotton, are reminded that the Enterprise circulates especially well in the lower part of Greenville, adjoining Laurens County, near where reside many of the farmers who sold their cotton last season at this market. By advertising with us, you communicate with the parties you desire to.

THERE is no publication more admired by the ladies than Godey's Lady's Book; no new candidate for their favor can supplant it. The October number is equal to the best issues.

Unionville has elected a Dry Ticket for Town Councilmen, by a vote of 111 to 26.

Advertisements. Our circulation is very superior, and our advertising terms very low, more especially to those who advertise by three, six and twelve months contracts. "Hang your banner on the outer wall."

Sale at the "Green Place."

By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen, that Mr. JULIUS C. SMITH, will sell at auction, at the above named place, a lot of Plantation Tools, Corn, Fodder, Wagon, &c.

CRUMBS.—The passenger train was detained on Saturday, in consequence of repairs going on upon a bridge near Cokesbury, and therefore did not reach Greenville until half-past eight at night, two hours behind time.

CAPT. J. W. BROOKS, our aged and esteemed citizen, is very ill. Dr. MARSHALL is attending him. We trust he will soon be restored to his usual health.

Mr. DARGAN, formerly a student at Furman University and afterwards teacher in the Academic Department, is on a visit to Greenville. He now resides in Darlington village.

Tax the "London Crackers," at the family grocery store of Messrs. FERGUSON & MILLER. Very superior.

New corn is selling in our market at seventy cents per bushel.

Mr. HAMMETT was the crier of the United States Court, and Mr. G. W. LAND that of the County Court.

8,000 people, it is said, have left the City of Charleston, in consequence of the yellow fever.

Mr. G. T. SHELTON has been appointed mail agent between Columbia and Greenville, vice O. C. FOLGER.

For the Greenville Enterprise.

Messrs. Editors.—The time has certainly arrived when some of the existing evils that curse our community should be exposed and opposed. Obliterating every land-mark of party prejudice, both in Church and State, let every one who cares an iota for his fellow-men, inquire where are we drifting? We hear of the great corruption pervading our Legislative Halls at our State Capitol, where ignorance and extravagance prevail to an alarming extent no one can deny, but how it is with the capital of our County, the boasted City of the Mountains; prominent in God's favor as testified by the pure mountain air and limpid water so abundant and free to all, backed by six temples, (four for the white and two for the colored people) dedicated to Him with a host of Ministers too numerous to mention, who assemble the people one day in the week to recognize His claims and thank Him for the surroundings; and perhaps of the remaining six days, (one hundred and forty-four hours) one or two hours are spent by a few in prayerful devotion, to remind them of His care in the week as well as on the Sabbath. Glance at the other side of the picture, which is enough to cause every one to shudder who has a soul to be saved or lost, or who cares for the rising generation. Stop and look at the twelve temples of Bacchus, where white and colored worship every day in the week, every hour in the day, and the greater part of the night; even on the Sabbath, enter the back way, and turning their faces up towards Heaven, look to see if every drop of poison for their brain has left the cup, (leaving the barkeeper behind to drag out a drunken comrade by the heels, he not having time or the inclination to go to church,) wending their way to the house of God, perfuming the air with their poisonous breath, and staining the floor with other poison. Perhaps some of their names are on the church books, whose consciences tell them that the fair sex are unpleasantly near with acute nostrils, who should frown upon such habits, and conduct forever. Also dive into another apartment of Satans domains, to surround the gambling table and utter oaths and slang phrases for the ears of their sons, nephews and cousins; again they plunge into other disgraceful habits in a "stone's throw" of their wives and little ones, forgetting the vow (made before God and man) to exist until parted by death, instead of praying for them night and morn, thereby obtaining a happy abode here, and an inheritance above.

Now for figures to show where the money goes—increased taxation, &c., &c. They have not the time to go to church, taxes are so high, must work in the City and County Commissioners, they can tell something that will reflect on them with telling effect, for allowing "King Alcohol" such away in the City and County. From four to five thousand dollars to pay jurors and State witnesses. Seven hundred dollars for one street riot; hundreds upon hundreds to pay other like offenses and send lunatics (delirium tremens) to the Asylum. What for the paltry license money, compared to the destruction of the bone and sinew, and minds of the young!

Which summons will you obey, that of the bar room, "Call and get your drinks," or that of the Bible, "Touch not, taste not, handle not."

FAREWELL TO WHISKY.

American Bible Society.

Messrs. Editors.—You will much oblige me and a holy cause if you will publish the following from the Manual of the American Bible Society.

Yours truly,

E. A. BOLLER.

Agent American Bible Society for S. C.

Columbia, S. C., September 15, 1871.

How to Help the Society's Work.

"The sole object of the Institution, is to encourage a wider circulation of the Holy Scriptures, without note or comment." Its friends may aid its work—

1st. By buying and circulating its books. Those books are attractive in binding and typography. They are variously adapted for all classes of persons; books in large type for the aged; in raised letters for the blind; parts of the Bible for the convenience of readers who prefer not to hold a heavy book; reference Bibles for those who compare scripture with scripture; Bibles in various languages for foreigners; and of various sizes for pulpits, families, travelers, scholars and others. Being offered for sale at cost, these Bibles do not often make their way through the ordinary channels of trade, and are seldom advertised in newspapers. Still they are widely distributed through the country, and may be found or ordered through the County Depositories at numerous points. Whoever becomes a purchaser and distributor helps in this work.

2d. By commending the scriptures to others, and convincing men that they owe it to themselves, their families, their country, and their God, to own, read, and study this book of truth.

3d. By entering heartily into arrangements providing for a thorough and economical re-supply of Districts with the Bible. This home work of exploration and supply falls properly within the province of local societies auxiliary to the American Bible Society. Their efficiency and success depend mainly upon the voluntary co-operation of churches and individual Christians.

4th. By remitting donations to the American Bible Society for its benevolent work in our own and in foreign lands, that it may sow the seed of truth in the great and accessible field which opens before it.

FOR THE GREENVILLE ENTERPRISE.

Cotton.

The new crop almost ready to enter the market, 8,000 bales of the last crop was shipped from here on speculation, about 2,000 bales consumed by the factors, and sold at an average of thirteen cents. The last year's crop amounted to four millions bales. The present crop will fall short about one million according to best authority (I am speaking of American cotton). The India crop is unusually large, and will fully supply the American deficiency. At present, remunerative prices are offered for the present crop; for instance, good cotton will sell readily for seventeen cents here to day, September 11th, 1871. The general opinion among speculators, merchants and farmers is that cotton will continue to advance until it reaches a high point; the opinion is too general to be correct from the simple fact that cotton rises and falls contrary to general opinion, at least such has been the case for a number of years. In December, 1867, and January, 1868, cotton sold here for ten cents, when the premium was forty cents on gold, making its gold value seven cents; when its gold value was fifteen cents, when it was worth seven cents in gold; good mules sold for two hundred dollars; bacon twenty-five cents; now you can buy good mules for one hundred and fifty dollars, bacon ten cents to thirteen cents per pound. Such a contrast is not consistent; the idea is absurd. I would be glad to see the producer realize higher prices, but there are many chances against a further advance. The crop of 1867, when it fell to ten cents here, was less than three millions; the present stock of cotton in the hands of speculators is unusually large. If you hold your cotton until next January, you will lose ten per cent. in weight and interest.

For the Greenville Enterprise.

Messrs. Editors.—Attracted by the struggles of a little yellow bird to free itself from a spider's web, the writer was led to observe a remarkable mimicry or similarity between the flowers to whose stems the web was attached, the gorgeous butterflies that sip from the deep flower cups, and the spider who remained poised, head downwards, for days—the body was as large as a boy's tag marble, with four pairs of legs, each with three joints, the larger of amber color, the other joints shaded with deep black; the body was richly bound with yellow and white dots on the under side. The discarded wings of the butterflies were numerous in the web, but their bodies gone. This dazzling king among spiders will be watched with interest, and may his posterity be long in the land.

IMPORTANT TO BUILDERS AND CONTRACTORS.—We learn from our Charleston exchange that Mr. F. P. Toole, the well-known manufacturer of Doors, Sashes, Blinds, &c., has established a depot at No. 20 Bayne street, where he keeps constantly on hand not only all articles from his manufactory, but also every variety of builders' hardware, French and American window glass, both plain and ornamental, slate mantels, and, in short, everything necessary to finish handsomely a residence, a store, or a church.

ONLY TWO TEASPOONSFUL OF DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER to a quart of flour are necessary to produce extra light rolls, &c., while those of ordinary manufacture require nearly double that quantity. This is owing to its perfect purity and extra strength. Aside from this fact, each package contains the full amount that is represented. Hence, Dooley's is the cheapest, best, and most reliable in market, and takes the preponderance of all others. Grocers keep it everywhere. Dooley & Brothers, Manufacturers, 29 South Street, New York.
